

You will be notified by ClamWin if the program finds a virus during a scheduled scan. You will see a pop-up message appear towards the bottom-right of the computer screen that looks like:

If you see this message, please let Jay know since he's into that sort of thing. Meanwhile, just click on the little X at the right in the message and don't worry, be happy, and feel free to get back to your computing.